Comments:	In Attachment 2: Consequence of Failure Matrix, how are the damage categories defined? Specifically for Environmental Impacts, who decides the difference between the following levels of risk and is there any guidance or references used to determine risk categorization? - minor environmental damage - likely non-lasting (short term) repairable damage and expect recovery within one year - likely to cause medium-term repairable damage and expect recovery within 3 years - likely to cause long-term repairable damage and recovery requires more than 5 years and may significantly compromise habitat - likely to cause environmental damage with lasting consequences (permanent change to habitat) and permanent damage to habitat
